

UCR Education Abroad Annual Report

Summer 2023 through Spring 2024

*Prepared by Sonja Lind and Katharine Fitzgerald
December 19, 2024*

Introduction

Education abroad programs at the University of California, Riverside (UCR) continue to expand their reach and impact. The Education Abroad Office provides UCR students invaluable opportunities for cultural immersion, academic advancement, and personal growth. This annual report highlights program activities, student participation, locations, and majors from Summer 2023 to Spring 2024.

Overview of Education Abroad Programs

During the reporting period, the UCR Education Abroad office facilitated three types of education abroad programs, including:

- University of California Education Abroad Programs (UCEAP), UC systemwide programs that account for most UCR students studying abroad. UCEAP students can study or intern for a summer, quarter, semester, academic year, or calendar year term. Some of these students extend their study abroad programs.
- Faculty-Led Education Abroad Programs (FLEAP) are short-term summer programs by UCR professors, and up to one-third of UCR students study abroad in this program type. FLEAP students study abroad during the summer term. This group often includes students who only study abroad once per year.
- Opportunities Abroad Programs (OAP) are independent-provider programs for students wishing to select an experience outside UCEAP and FLEAP opportunities. OAP students can study or intern for a summer, quarter, semester, or academic year term. More of these students study abroad in more than one program.

Education abroad programs at UCR aim to foster cross-cultural understanding and enhance global citizenship among participants.

For more information on the program types, see ea.ucr.edu/abroad/overview.

Conclusion

This report comprehensively overviews the UCR Education Abroad Office's impact over the 2023-2024 year. The education abroad programs from Summer 2023 to Spring 2024 have successfully engaged students in academic and cultural exchanges, benefiting participants from diverse backgrounds and majors. By facilitating these programs, we aim to nurture global citizens with the skills and perspectives necessary for today's interconnected world. The continued support from faculty, staff, and partner institutions has enriched these experiences for all UCR students.
